

Join the Oligonucleotide Therapeutics Society NOW!

OTS is an open, nonprofit forum to foster academic and industry-based research and development of oligonucleotide therapeutics (RNAi, CpG, antisense, and others).

Becoming a Member

OTS membership is open to all individuals from industry, academia, and other institutions worldwide.

Membership Benefits Include:

- A subscription to the Official OTS Journal, Oligonucleotides, both in print and online
- Save hundreds of dollars on your registration fee for future Oligonucleotide Therapeutics Society meetings
- A network of experts covering all areas of nucleic-acid drug development (chemistry, physics, mechanisms, biology, model systems, clinical trials, market analysis, patent issues)
- The option of joint membership with ISN3A

To become a member of OTS, please fill in the online membership application form at www.myots.org and send it along with payment (credit card number or check) to the OTS Society Management Office at the address below.

The annual dues are US $125 for regular members from faculty and industry, and US $75 for students. Your membership will become effective immediately upon receiving the application fee.

We look forward to your active participation in OTS, and in our Journal!
