One More Thing...

*Michael Hoad, MA,
Executive Editor*

The success of this new journal, Healthcare Transformation, depends on you. Your ideas. Your critical thinking. Your questions. The changes in healthcare are fast, they're exciting, and sometimes they require extreme care. To find those moments, we rely on the many people accomplishing them—whatever your role, let us know how you're redesigning a bold future.

Next issue: What can healthcare learn from HOME DEPOT? The founder of HOME DEPOT just donated millions to help pin down the inflammatory pathways of stress.

We'll explore what he did, why he did it, and whether we might be able to create a unified view of "integrative health." If we could test stress busters, if we could appreciate the physiology of yoga, if we could measure mindfulness, if we could conceive the effects of love and friendship . . . could we begin to integrate medicine with strategies for well-being?

What do you think? Send us your comments on the Journal's web page, and we'll integrate those ideas into the perspectives we explore in the next issue: www.HTboldhealth.com

And before you go, one last question for you.

Do you believe telehealth will fundamentally transform the delivery of healthcare? Pick one on our website, HTboldhealth.com:

- Yes, huge transformation of healthcare delivery.
- New tool for today's patient care.
- Too much hype. Patients will always want to see doctors face-to-face.

Please vote on our web poll, or write me at mhoad@liebertpub.com. We want to hear from you. ■■■
